The Editors and Authors

Georg Adler is admitted to practice law in Austria and works as an attorney in Vienna and London. For several years, he was part of the International Arbitration Practice Group of WilmerHale at the firm's London office.

Prior to joining WilmerHale, Georg Adler worked for a Vienna based law firm (Schoenherr) that has a strong footprint in the CEE region. He holds a doctoral degree from the University of Vienna (Dr. iur.) and master's degree in Law and Finance (MSc) from the University of Oxford.

Georg Adler started his legal career as a researcher and lecturer at the Wirtschaftsuniversität Wien, Austria, and since then has been involved in academic activities, including teaching students, publishing articles and speaking at conferences. He has been a guest lecturer at the Universidade the Santiago de Compostela, Spain, and at the Deutsche Hochschule für Verwaltungswissenschaften in Speyer, Germany. His academic interest is also reflected in the various publications on International Arbitration, European Law, as well as on Austrian Constitutional and Administrative Law that he has authored.

Georg Adler is a member of ASA, DIS, and YAAP. He served on the board of the Vienna Bar and has been listed repeatedly as a “Future Leader” (England) in Who's Who Legal Arbitration.

Alexey Anischenko is a partner at Sorainen, where he leads International Arbitration Regional Practice. He is also head of the Dispute Resolution, Competition & Regulatory, Tax & Customs Practice Groups in Belarus. Alexey has over fifteen years' experience as counsel, expert, arbitrator and mediator with a particular focus on complex international disputes involving Belarusian state and private companies in such sectors as infrastructure, machinery, TMT, banking, insurance and construction. Acting as counsel and arbitrator, Alexey has dealt with major arbitration rules, including ICC, ICSID, LCIA, SCC, UNCITRAL and VIAC.

Apart from the intensive practice, Alexey is a senior lecturer at the Belarusian State University and active speaker at seminars and conferences. He co-authored around 100 publications on the topics of the international trade and dispute resolution, including recently published first comprehensive award winning textbook on international commercial arbitration in Belarus.

Alexey actively supports young talent through moot courts coaching and arbitrating. He is mentoring students, young practitioners, promoting initiatives like Young Alternative Dispute Resolution (YADR) Belarus and Summer School in International Commercial Arbitration in Belarus at the IAC at the BelCCI.

Mauro Rubino-Sammartano is a Chartered Arbitrator. He is admitted to the Italian and to the Paris Bar and is an associate member, as an international arbitrator, of a set of barristers chambers in London, Littleton Chambers. He chairs the European Court of Arbitration, the International School of Arbitration and Mediation for the Mediterranean and the Middle East and the arbitration group of LawFed BRSA. He has launched the European Court of Arbitration's Main Points and its Arbitrator's Pledge, which characterize its approach to arbitration.

He sits as an arbitrator, appears as counsel in arbitral proceedings largely as to construction disputes, and in court proceedings for challenges against awards. He is a paladin of the full right of a party to call evidence and to examine witnesses without undue interference.

He has been a visiting professor at the Milan University and a lecturer many years at the Padua University and has chaired the Union Internationale des Avocats, the IBA's International Construction Committee T, the IBA International Sales Committee and the IBA Mediation Committee.

His main textbooks are Arbitrage International. Droit et Pratique (4th Edition in French, Bruylant 2019), International Arbitration: Law and Practice (3rd Edition, Juris 2014), Il Diritto dell'Arbitrato (Arbitration Law, 6th Edition, Cedam, 2010), and Appalti di Opere e Contratti di Servizi (Construction Law and Contracts for Services, Cedam 2006).

He has written and is writing extensively on arbitration, mediation and construction in English, French and Italian.

He has been active through LawFed's Construction Group in large international construction projects like dams and highways in Africa, Middle East, Asia and Europe and through its corporate group in corporate matters such as in mergers and dismissals, in multi fora disputes, in joint ventures and corporate litigation.

He has argued, inter alia, the applicability to stock acquisitions of the warranties for sales of goods as to the value of the sold company, the ambit of guarantees on demand, the engineer's role in construction contracts, the right of a party not to perform if the opposite party has not performed (or if the latter's financial conditions have become difficult) and in general the full right of a party to call evidence and to examine witnesses without undue interference.
